New Friends, New Home

Fatima is excited to start college. She is a freshman and wants to make new friends. She speaks to her classmates online before the semester begins. When she arrives, she introduces herself to them in person.

Fatima lives in a residence hall with her roommate, Noor. Their suite has two bedrooms and a shared living area. Noor is considerate: she speaks quietly when Fatima studies. Fatima also respects Noor's privacy. The two students get along well.

On Monday, Fatima meets a student assistant called Reem. Reem tells her about a freshman support group and college activities. She says students can join clubs and ask a tutor for help with their lessons.

After class, Noor asks Fatima to hang out at the campus garden. They talk about their families and their plans. Before leaving, Noor says, "Catch you later!" Fatima smiles. She knows that being polite, helpful, and friendly makes college life easier.
